

New Jersey Hearing-Looped facilities, identified as of October 2022*

Have you been frustrated or embarrassed trying to do business, join in an important meeting, or enjoy a presentation in a public space where you just can't hear?

Hearing loops can fix that, giving us the same access to public spaces that wheelchair ramps give to people with mobility issues. All you need is a small headset (often lent by the facility) or hearing aids/cochlear implants with a "telecoil." Through these devices, and the loop, speakers' voices come from a mic directly to your ears. You'll enjoy "20/20 hearing!"

As you may have noticed, New Jersey lags far behind New York and other states which give hard-of-hearing and deaf citizens equal access to many public facilities via hearing loops.

HLAA-NJ is working with the legislature to address the need for widespread looping in NJ. Meanwhile, we are grateful to the following NJ sites that have already installed loops.
